- Designing Training Plans and Course Components.

Certification

Candidates who successfully meet all learning outcomes will obtain the QQI Level 6 component award in Training Needs Identification and Design (6N3325).

This module can be taken individually or combined with the Training Delivery and Evaluation Module (6N3326) in order to gain the QQI higher Special Purpose Award – Training & Development Special Purpose Award (6S3372).

Certification

Candidates who successfully meet all learning outcomes will obtain the QQI Level 6 component award in Training Needs Identification and Design (6N3325).

This module can be taken individually or combined with the Training Delivery and Evaluation Module (6N3326) in order to gain the QQI higher Special Purpose Award – Training & Development Special Purpose Award (6S3372).

Trainers who have completed the previous FETAC Train the Trainer award certified through FETAC can gain an exemption for the second module of the new Special Purpose Award – (Training Delivery and Evaluation - 6N3326) and only need to complete the Training Needs Identification and Design Module – 6N3325 to receive the new Training & Development Special Purpose Award (6S3372). It is expected that this new Award overtime will become the standard requirement for trainers working on all ETB/SOLAS funded training.

This exemption from QQI for the old award will only be available until December 2015.
